1. My new Bio

Teboho Vincent Mokoena started BSc IT(Knowledge and Information System) in 2015, currently doing his final year at the University of Pretoria. He has been a member of World CodeSprint 12 (local and global coding competition) since the year 2016. His enthusiasm for programming and Computer Science remains undiminished after facing many challenges ,including a cancer diagnosis (which he underwent treatment for and has been cured from), and the death of two immediate-family members - to mention a few. What characterises him is phenomenal will and a determination to finish what he starts. If execution is what you want, then this is your man.
